9U4M Burundi -update

The days go by but the spread is never the same from one day to the next. On low bands for example, it can be all good one day and closed or very noisy the next day. Tonight, 40m seemed exceptional; I was there from 16:00 to 19:00 UT and I rarely saw a pileup of such intensity, proof that we had to hear us louder than usual. This is so and we can unfortunately nothing despite a deployment antennas consequent. 73, F2DX Patrick op 9U4M

Titumate Island SA-093 KH4/LU9EFO and HK3TU/4 -update

Due to the great stoppage of pilots of the Avianca Local Airline of Colombia, the team of the dxpedition IOTA SA040 and SA093 Martin Butera LU9EFO and Camilo Andres Fierros Castellanos HK3TU, decided to postpone the dxpedition until February of next year. Martin is from November 9 in the city of Sao Paulo (more than 36 hours waiting at Guarullos Airport in Sao Paulo), unable to fly and have already missed scheduled flights to Cartagena. The company informs that they will fly again next Monday, but it is not safe. The dxpedition team decided to postpone the tickets for February 2018. We believe it is the best for everyone, because this current situation leaves us with a few days to activate. We have the support and understanding of all the sponsor and radio amateur friends.
