DX NEWS

ZK3A Tokelau 2019 –update September 18

The advance team consisting of Dusko ZL3WW, Adrian KO8SCA & Robert N7QT are packed and ready to depart by this weekend bound for Tokelau Islands. They will all meet in Auckland, New Zealand then across to Apia, Samoa. From there they will sail towards Tokelau Islands arriving Wednesday 25th September.

DX World has new plans!

We confirm that the DX-World Radio Club will soon be formed, and with that the chance to operate, initially, from UK DXCC entities using a special callsign (currently pending).

England and Scotland already have operators waiting patiently to activate the special call, hopefully by October 1, 2019.

The principle idea is to make this a worldwide DXCC participation format whereby, if possible, every country on the list (minus the really rare ones) gets a chance to operate a DX-World Radio Club special callsign for a month at a time.

XW0LP –update by Simon (ex-XZ2A)

I just got my XW licence! The call is XW0LP (= Luang Prabang, the town in north Laos where I now live). I've created a QRZ and Club Log profile.

My XW licence is valid for 1 year from 1st October 2019, and is initially valid only for 20 meter band operations, because I need to confirm propagation and antenna performance from my new QTH. If all looks good, I'll extend my licence to other bands. (It costs more money for more bands, hence my initial desire to limit myself to just one band).
